U.S. Rep. Brad Miller Joins the American Red Cross and Community Leaders for Holiday Mail for Heroes Event

Raleigh, N.C. – U.S. Rep. Miller will kick-off the signing of homemade holiday cards in Raleigh on December 7th for U.S. troops, their families and veterans all over the world as part of the American Red Cross Holiday Mail for Heroes Program. Students from Bugg, Douglas and Wendell Elementary Schools in Wake County designed the cards for the troops. Dozens of leaders from the Raleigh business community, veterans groups, media, and elected officials have been invited to view the cards, sign them and write personal messages to American men and women in uniform serving abroad during the holiday season.

"I'm proud of this community effort to deliver holiday cards to American troops serving half a world away who are sacrificing for all of us and who won't be with their families during this special time of year," said Rep. Miller.

Who: U.S. Rep. Brad Miller, American Red Cross, Community Leaders

When: Tuesday, December 7th, 1 P.M.

Where: Bugg Elementary School, 825 Cooper Rd., Raleigh
